Revenue of the company/products/services:

Zoho offers a comprehensive suite of over 45 business applications designed to enhance productivity and streamline business operations. Some of the key products include Zoho CRM for customer relationship management, Zoho Projects for project management, Zoho Books for online accounting, Zoho Mail for secure business email hosting, Zoho Desk for customer support, Zoho Creator for low-code application development, and Zoho People for HR management.

Zoho Corporation is a privately held company, so it does not publicly disclose detailed financial information. However, the company's estimated annual revenue is generally believed to be between $500 million and over $1 billion. Zoho has achieved this revenue through its broad range of software-as-a-service (SaaS) products and solutions, catering to various business needs and industries.

Morals and Values of the company:

At Zoho, we believe in three things: putting customers first, supporting our team, and doing what's right. We're all about making our customers happy, helping our team members grow, and being honest and fair in everything we do. These values shape who we are and how we work, guiding us to make a positive impact every day.

Profits/Acquisition/Merges/Services:

Zoho Corporation operates profitably in the software industry, offering a suite of over 45 applications tailored to various business needs. The company has grown steadily without external funding and focuses on long-term sustainability. Zoho has not undergone any major acquisitions or mergers, preferring organic growth. Its services include customer relationship management (CRM), project management, accounting, email hosting, customer support, and HR management, among others.

Awards and Honours:

Zoho has earned some impressive awards in the software world. We've received Editor's Choice awards from PCMag, showing that our products are highly regarded for their usability and quality. Additionally, the Software & Information Industry Association has honored us with multiple CODiE Awards for our innovative contributions to the industry.

These awards reflect our ongoing commitment to delivering top-notch solutions that make a real difference for our users

Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) Activities:

From my perspective, Zoho's dedication to Corporate Social Responsibility is commendable. They prioritize education, the environment, community support, and employee well-being. It's reassuring to see a company actively making a positive impact in these areas, even as an outsider. Their efforts reflect a genuine commitment to social and environmental responsibility, which is something I value and admire.

Branches/Employees:

Zoho Corporation has offices in many countries around the world. While the exact number of branches can change, they're located in places like the United States, India, Europe, and Asia-Pacific.

As for employees, Zoho has a big team with thousands of people working across these offices. They're known for taking care of their employees and offering opportunities for growth and learning.
